

A. Why are revisions to State programs necessary?

States with primary PWSS enforcement authority must comply with the requirements of 40 CFR part 142 to maintain primacy. They must adopt regulations that are at least as stringent as the NPDWRs at 40 CFR parts 141 and 142, as well as adopt all new and revised NPDWRs in order to retain primacy (40 CFR 142.12(a)).

B. How does this action affect Indian country (18 U.S.C. 1151) in Montana?

The EPA's approval of Montana's revised PWSS program does not extend to Indian country as defined in 18 U.S.C. 1151. Indian country in Montana generally includes (1) lands within the exterior boundaries of the following Indian reservations located within Montana: The Crow Indian Reservation, the Blackfeet Indian Reservation, the Flathead Reservation, the Fort Belknap Reservation, the Fort Peck Indian Reservation, the Northern Cheyenne Indian Reservation, and the Rocky Boy's Reservation; (2) any land held in trust by the United States for an Indian tribe; and (3) any other areas which are "Indian country" within the meaning of 18 U.S.C. 1151. EPA or eligible Indian tribes, as appropriate, will retain PWSS program responsibilities over public water systems in Indian country.

C. Requesting a Hearing

Any interested party may request a hearing on this determination within thirty (30) days of this notice. All requests shall include the following information: Name, address, and telephone number of the individual, organization, or other entity requesting a hearing; a brief statement of interest and information to be submitted at the hearing; and the signature of the interested individual or responsible official, if made on behalf of an organization or other entity. Frivolous or insubstantial requests for a hearing may be denied by the RA.

Notice of any hearing shall be given not less than fifteen (15) days prior to the time scheduled for the hearing and will be made by the RA in the Federal Register and in a newspaper of general circulation in the state. A notice will also be sent to both the person(s) requesting the hearing and the state. The hearing notice will include a statement of purpose of the hearing, information regarding time and location for the hearing, and the address and telephone number where interested persons may obtain further information. The RA will issue an order affirming or rescinding the determination upon review of the hearing record. Please bring this notice to the attention of any persons known by you to have an interest in this determination.

Autumn R. Agans, Privacy Act Officer, Farm Credit Administration, McLean, Virginia 22102-5090, (703) 883-4019, TTY (703) 883-4020.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In accordance with the Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, 5 U.S.C. 552a(r), a report of these systems of records is being filed with the Chair of the House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, the Chair of the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, and the Administrator of the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs of the Office of Management and Budget.

The Agency is adding four new routine uses and making non-substantive changes to two existing routine uses.

The Privacy Act governs the means by which the United States Government collects, maintains, and uses personally identifiable information (PII) in a system of records. A "system of records" is a group of any records under the control of a Federal agency from which information about individuals is retrieved by name or other personal identifier. The Privacy Act requires each agency to publish in the Federal Register, for public notice and comment, a system of records notice (SORN) identifying and describing each system of records the agency maintains, including the purposes for which the agency uses PII in the system and the routine uses for which the agency discloses such information outside the agency. As provided in "Privacy Act Guidelines" issued by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) on July 1, 1975 (see 40 FR 28966), once an agency has published a routine use that will apply to all of its systems of record (i.e., a general routine use) in the Federal Register for public notice and comment, the agency may thereafter incorporate the publication by reference in each system's SORN without inviting further public comment on that use. To date, FCA has published eight general routine uses (see 64 FR 8175 published February 18, 1999). The amended general routine uses reflect non-substantive changes to two existing FCA general routine uses (see 64 FR 8175, published February 18, 1999).

The four new general routine uses implemented by this Notice allow for (i) disclosure of records in response to a breach or suspected breach of an FCA system of records; (ii) disclosure of records in response to a breach or suspected breach of or in response to another agency's system of records; (iii) disclosure of records to contractors or other authorized agents performing work on behalf of the Agency; and (iv) a routine use allowing disclosure to other federal and state agencies to facilitate access to, amendment or correction of records, or to verify the identity of individuals making such requests.

The new general routine uses are compatible with the purposes for which the information to be disclosed was originally collected. Individuals whose personally identifiable information is in FCA systems expect their information to be secured. Sharing their information with appropriate parties in responding to a confirmed or suspected breach of an FCA system, or another agency's system, will help FCA and all Federal agencies protect them against potential misuse of their information by unauthorized persons. Moreover, these new routine uses are necessary to comply with OMB Memorandum M-17-12, "Preparing for and Responding to a Breach of Personally Identifiable Information" (January 3, 2017).

Sharing information with contractors or other authorized agents performing work on behalf of the Agency facilitates efficient use of government resources by leveraging contract support in developing and deploying capabilities or enhancing services. Disclosure requirements are limited to only those data elements considered relevant to accomplishing a specific agency function as it relates to the system of records from which the records are disclosed. Sharing information with other federal and state agencies to facilitate access to, amendment or correction of records, or to verify the identity of individuals making requests for access to, amendment or correction of records facilitates transparency efforts while simultaneously ensuring the privacy of individuals to whom the information being requested applies.

In order that the Agency's Statement of General Routine Uses, including those new uses described above, will be contained in a single notice readily accessible by the public, the FCA is republishing the General Statement of Routine Uses previously published on February 18, 1999 (64 FR 8175), which were not revised under this notice.
